In response to Finding of Facts Number Eight (8) through Ten (10), Respondent states that her personal life at the time did have an impact on her career and as for the documentation, Respondent states that she always carried around a little notepad where she wrote down the vital signs and any changes in the patients status. Additionally, Respondent states that because this was one on one care, assessments were the same unless there was a change in the status quo of the patient and that on this date it was an oversight.
